Are you aged 13 or over with a physical disability?
and do you play any sports or other physical activities?

The Institute for Musculoskeletal Health is interested in talking to young people about their experiences with sport and physical recreation so that we can help health professionals support young people to increase their participation.

This is a part of the PROPOSE research study.

Please help us with our research study and book an interview.

The sessions are open to young people aged 13 - 18 years with a physical disability.

Interviews will be held via a phone or a video call.
